DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

"The function of education is to teach one to think intensively and to think critically. Intelligence plus character – that is the goal of true education."

Dear Yadavindrians, Parents and Well-wishers,

Education at YPS is holistic, balancing academic rigour with character building and real-world readiness. Our students consistently excel across disciplines, reflecting our commitment to excellence. Since its founding in 1979 under the royal patronage of His Highness Maharaja Adhiraj Yadavindra Singh of Patiala, YPS Mohali has remained dedicated to nurturing future leaders who embody Indian values while embracing a global outlook. Our motto - Vidya, Vinay, Veerta - Wisdom, Humility, and Courage - guides us in this endeavour.

This year has been particularly rewarding. In the Education World All India School Rankings 2025-26, YPS was ranked First in Punjab, 8th Year running and Fifth at the National Level in the Coed Day-cum-Boarding category. We were also honoured by Education Today as the No. 1 ICSE School in Punjab for Holistic Education and for our efforts in Skill Development. These recognitions affirm our commitment to academics, co-curricular excellence, and value-based education.

We continue to create an enriching environment for our students. Our infrastructure is among the best in the Tri-City at par with international levels, boasting the largest sports facilities including Hockey, Squash, Basketball, Swimming, Archery, and Futsal. We have also upgraded our campus amenities to ensure a safe, comfortable, and sustainable environment, with expanded solar power and fully air-conditioned facilities.

Our state-of-the-art kitchen ensures nutritious meals daily for over 2000 members of the YPS family. With sustainability at our core, we have also invested in a 300-Watt Solar Power Plant, reaffirming our pledge to greener living. Technology has further transformed our classrooms. High-speed 350 Mbps leased lines power smart and hybrid learning, while the SKOLARO App strengthens school–parent communication. At the same time, robust cybersecurity measures safeguard our digital platforms, ensuring a safe learning environment.

International exposure remains integral to our vision. The 2025 Japan Educational Tour, career fairs, university interactions, and summer programs at prestigious institutions like Harvard and Ashoka enrich our students' worldview.

At the heart of YPS are its teachers. In line with NEP 2020, our faculty completed over 50 hours of professional development through workshops and Council programs, equipping themselves with the latest pedagogies and inclusive practices. Their dedication ensures that every Yadavindrian receives not only knowledge but also values that shape character and leadership.

As we envision the future, we recognize that the world of education is being transformed by Artificial Intelligence. At YPS, we are committed to integrating AI meaningfully into teaching and learning-personalizing education, encouraging creativity, and developing critical thinking skills. However, while embracing these innovations, we remain rooted in human values, ensuring that technology serves to enhance-not replace-the compassion, empathy, and courage that define true education.

Equally, we continue to emphasize sustainability initiatives as an integral part of our school culture. Through eco-clubs, energy conservation drives, waste reduction practices, and awareness campaigns, we instill in our students the responsibility of being custodians of the planet. Sustainability for us is not an activity, but a way of life-preparing our children to lead with environmental consciousness in an interconnected world.

To our students: you are the soul of YPS. Use your knowledge with humility and your courage with wisdom. Let your learning go beyond marks and become a force for good in society.

To our parents: your trust strengthens our resolve to provide a balanced and forward-looking education. Together, we shape not only achievers but also changemakers.

To our teachers: your passion and dedication remain the cornerstone of our success. Continue to inspire, innovate, and ignite young minds with purpose.

As we step into a new era, our vision remains clear: to nurture future-ready leaders-grounded in values, strengthened by knowledge, and empowered with courage. Together, let us build a vibrant, sustainable, and progressive YPS Mohali, where tradition meets innovation, and where every child learns not just to excel but to make a meaningful difference.

YPS is not just a school; it is a way of life. It's a complete Ecosystem. For more than 45 years, our institution has nurtured young minds with curiosity, discipline, compassion, and courage-values deeply rooted in our motto Vidya, Vinay, Veerta. Guided by the vision of our founders, we have consistently strived to balance tradition with innovation, preparing our students to meet the challenges of a rapidly changing world.

On behalf of YPS, I extend my gratitude to our Patron, Chairman, Board of Governors, parents, staff, and above all, our students, who together uphold the legacy and spirit of this institution.

May YPS continue to inspire generations with the light of Vidya, Vinay, and Veerta.

Warm regards,
Major General TPS Waraich VSM  (Retd)

CHANDIGARH, MAY 8

City-based equestrian Hriday Brar, 17, won six medals at the Delhi Horse Show, one of India's oldest equestrian events. Brar secured a tally of six medals — three gold, one silver, and two bronze — across multiple categories.

His medal haul included two gold medals in Young Rider Dressage, one gold and one bronze in Young Rider Jumping, one silver in Open Dressage, and one bronze in Open Jumping.

"Winning at the Delhi Horse Show has been a rewarding experience. I'm grateful for the support of my parents, particularly my mother, whose encouragement has been constant. I also owe a lot to my coaches, especially Maj. Ahluwalia, for their invaluable guidance," he said.

Hriday began his equestrian journey at the age of five at the Chandigarh Horse Riders Society in Mohali. Over the years, he has trained under the guidance of several coaches, including Col Sarpartap Singh, Capt Palwinder Singh, and Maj Jitendarjit Singh Ahluwalia — a former Olympian and Arjuna Awardee. Under their mentorship, the youngster steadily built a strong foundation in horsemanship, developing skills in riding techniques, horse psychology, and competitive strategy.

Prior to his recent success in Delhi, he had already made his mark at the state and national levels, with two National Championship medals, two state titles, and representation at two International Championships. His consistent performance highlights a growing maturity in the sport.

She chose cricket, we chose to stand by her: Harleen's family

Chandigarh: When India walked out against Australia for the first-ever international match at Melbourne stadium on Sept 14, all eyes in the dressing room were on one of their own, Mohali's Harleen Deol. For her family, it was a moment layered with memories of a little girl who once missed her school bus on purpose, just so her father would take her on his scooter.

In her very first international match on her home ground, Harleen rose to the moment scoring a 54 while batting at number three in the 1st ODI of New Chandigarh. Though India eventually went down to Australia by eight wickets, her innings stood out.

"She was very naughty as a child," recalls her father. "Sometimes she missed her bus intentionally so that I had to drop her. She wanted those scooter rides. At school, she played everything, badminton, hockey, and football. Her sports teacher once told me these games were for boys. But I refused to listen. I asked her what she wanted to play. She chose cricket. That was her decision. As a father, I just had to stand by her side."

Harleen first picked up a bat in Class 3 at YPS School, Mohali. By 2006, she was already representing the U-19 team at the IPSC tournament at the age of 8.

CHIEF EDITOR'S MESSAGE

"It's important to stand still sometimes.
Think of it as a little rest in the long journey of your life.
This is your harbour. And your boat is just dropping anchor here for a little while. And after you're well rested, you can set sail again."

– Days at the Morisaki Bookshop

These two years at school have been exactly that for me, my harbour. A pause in the long journey, a place to drop anchor, to grow, and to discover.

This school hasn't just educated me, it has reformed me. It has hammered resilience into my bones and woven patience into my nerves. At YPS, we juggle with duties, balance academics, and guide juniors. Beyond multitasking, its true gift is teaching us to stumble and rise.

My favourite corner will always be the library, with its endless shelves of stories, and the last seat by the window of my classroom where countless reflections began.

To my dear teachers, your guidance has been a true blessing for me and to so many students who came before and will come after. Their impact has truly made my days at school memorable. The real treasure of these two years are my completely irreplaceable set of friends. YPS gave me my people. And now, I can say with certainty, they have made it into my '7 minutes.'

I still remember 15th April 2024, the day I joined YPS, thinking it would simply be two fleeting years. Yet today, I leave with friendships that I will cherish forever and with a self I once thought I could never become. It is true what they say - Angels work in mysterious ways. And in YPS, I believe they worked through every person, every lesson, and every moment. I will forever be grateful to this school who gave me memories worth a lifetime.

So yes, this has been my harbour, the quiet between storms, the pause before the next journey. And now, with my anchor lifted, I'm ready to set sail again.

HEADBOY'S MESSAGE

Dear Yadavindrians,

It is a strange and solemn occasion to stand on the verge of bidding adieu to people who have been an integral part of our life. The classrooms that once appeared boundless now seem to fold themselves into intimate corners of memory; the faces that once bore the stamp of unfamiliarity have become fibres inseparably woven into the fabric of my life. I walked through these gates perplexed, uncertain of what destiny had in store for me - and yet, somewhere between those hesitant first steps and this poignant farewell, this institution sculpted from within me a person I had scarcely imagined I could become.

When I run down the corridors of memory, I pause to ponder upon moments etched indelibly upon my heart, reflecting on the countless shades of my school life. Here I discovered more than an edifice of learning; I discovered a mosaic of opportunities and trials that chiseled me in ways no design of mine could have foretold. Victories uplifted me, failures refashioned me, and in the quiet nobility of integrity, I learned lessons that no stage, however grand, could have taught.

If there is one truth I carry forward, it is that the greatest learnings in life often arrive when least expected. The path worth treading is rarely the smoothest, but it is always the most rewarding. Choose companions who challenge your spirit, hold fast to principles as to a compass, and never underestimate the quiet splendour of selfless deeds.

Leadership, I have come to understand, is not the act of standing foremost, but the duty of ensuring no one is left behind. It is not about possessing every answer, but about discerning when to listen to another's voice.

And now, as I take my leave, I realise that the true treasures of this journey are not certificates, positions, or accolades - but the resilience tempered on the fields, the empathy forged in testing conversations, and the friendships destined to outlast even the ticking of the clock.

To those who will walk these corridors after me: may your years here be measured not merely by achievements tallied, but by kindness extended, by risks embraced, and by the courage to take a stand when silence would have been easier. The stage is now yours - ascend it with valour, and when your time comes to step down, may you depart not with empty hands, but with a heart too full to contain its wealth.

Vidya Vinay Veerta
Armaan Singh Virk

HEADGIRL'S MESSAGE

Dear Yadavindrians,

I first walked into YPS in January 2011, a day etched in my memory, the day I became a Yadavindrian. Fifteen years later, I still say these words with pride: this school has been my identity, my sanctuary, my home.

Though I may no longer walk down these familiar corridors, they live forever in my heart. I still remember my nursery teacher fondly calling me "the chatterbox", a title I wore proudly then, and still do now.

In the Junior Wing, I'd sit during snack breaks and gaze at the seniors - tall, confident, almost magical. I longed to be like them, wearing the blue blazer and walking with the same purpose and poise. Back then, Class XII felt like a lifetime away. And now, in the blink of an eye, it's here and I'm on the verge of leaving my home.

School days flew by and like most things, I didn't realise how much it meant until it was almost over. I'd relive it all if I could - the wins, the stumbles, the lessons, the laughter... and, of course, the rajma and rice. YPS gave me incredible opportunities, but my most precious gift has been the friendships - without them, life here would've been colourless.

I thank Director Sir for inculcating in us the qualities of leadership and discipline.

I thank DHM Ma'am and the Bursar for always providing guidance and support , that helped us run many successful events like AFS and the Annual Academic Day presided by the Governor.

I wish to thank my teachers for their nurturing and care that helped guide us, for all the lessons both academic and moral. And to our support staff - thank you for everything you do, from cleaning our messes to feeding us delicious and nutritious meals every day, without you school wouldn't be school. To my juniors - believe in yourselves. Make memories - good and bad - because they will be the treasures you hold closest. You'll miss this place more than you think. I already do.

Thank you, YPS, for fifteen unforgettable years. I hope to return not just as an alumna - but as someone you are proud of.

Always yours
Divnoor Kaur Sikand
Head Girl

THE MILITARY LITERATURE FESTIVAL, CHANDIGARH

The Military Literature Festival (MLF) is a unique annual event that celebrates the rich heritage, history and values of the armed forces through literature, discussions and art. It brings together soldiers, scholars, authors, students and citizens to inspire patriotism and a deeper understanding of India's military legacy.

The 9th Military Literature Festival (MLF), held in Chandigarh from 7th November to 9th November 2025, was an inspiring and educational experience for students and visitors alike. The event began with the National Anthem, followed by an informative talk by Lt. General T. S. Shergill. He explained the Heartland and Rimland theories and highlighted India's strategic importance, especially the Himalayas, the Peninsula and the Andaman Islands.

One of the key attractions was the launch of "Boots, Bonds and Belly Laughs" by Avinash Sharma, a humorous yet meaningful book depicting an army officer's daily life. The MLF Magazine was also released.

Shri Gulab Chand Kataria, Governor Punjab, appreciated Chandigarh's contribution to military literature and encouraged spreading India's history through books. Mayor Harpreet Kaur Babla also graced the occasion.

The venue featured paintings, book stalls, live sketching, military vehicles and equipment displays. Students from YPS gained valuable insights by interacting with army officers. With participation from NCC, AFPI and international officers, the festival truly celebrated courage, creativity, and patriotism.

It represents the very values our school upholds. It is a powerful manifestation of the belief that every challenge can be overcome through Vidya (knowledge), Vinay (humility) and Veerta (courage). BLOSSOMING BEGINNINGS

THE FOUNDATION OF VIDYA, VINAY AND VEERTA

Education is not the learning of facts, but the training of the mind to think. – Albert Einstein

The Foundation Wing lays the cornerstone of lifelong learning by nurturing each child through a holistic, experiential, and play-based approach. Our curriculum is thoughtfully designed to integrate structured play with meaningful learning experiences, ensuring the balanced development of cognitive, social, emotional, and physical skills. Through hands-on activities, storytelling, music, movement, and exploration, children are encouraged to think critically, express creatively, and grow confidently.

A strong emphasis is placed on the development of fine motor and gross motor skills through well-planned classroom tasks and outdoor activities. Events such as the Swimming Meet and Athletic Meet provided valuable opportunities for children to build physical strength, coordination, discipline, and sportsmanship. Special assemblies fostered moral values, cultural awareness, and communication skills, while celebrations and theme-based activities made learning joyful and memorable.

The year culminated with great enthusiasm in the Annual Show, where children showcased their talents with confidence and joy, reflecting teamwork, creativity, and self-expression. Every milestone—from special assemblies to large-scale performances—was a celebration of growth and learning. The Foundation Wing continues to remain committed to nurturing happy, confident, and curious learners, prepared for the next stage of their educational journey.

Creative Art

In the Foundation Wing, creative art nurtures imagination and expression. Through diverse techniques and hands-on exploration, our young learners develop confidence, coordination and a love for learning while transforming ideas into vibrant works of art.

Experiential Learning

Experiential learning enriches young minds as children actively represent the school through music competitions and educational visits, including the Gurudwara. Such experiences nurture confidence, cultural awareness, values and learning beyond the classroom.

Gross and Fine Motor Skills

Through structured play, movement activities, and hands-on tasks, our Foundation learners strengthen gross and fine motor skills, enhancing balance, coordination, control and confidence while building a strong foundation for physical and academic growth.

"Little hands and moving feet today build strong, capable learners for tomorrow."

Language and Numeracy Skills

Through stories, conversations, numbers and hands-on activities, our Foundation learners strengthen early language and numeracy skills, building confidence in communication, counting and logical thinking.

"When children learn to play with words and numbers, they learn to understand the world."

Music and Talent Show

Music and talent activities provide a joyful platform for our young learners to explore rhythm, movement and self-expression. These experiences build confidence, creativity, and stage presence while celebrating every child's unique talent.

"Every child has a song within - music gives it a voice."

Making Waves:

LITTLE EXPLORERS, BIG ADVENTURES

Our little learners experienced a joyful day packed with laughter, adventure, and unforgettable memories. From the thrill of tug of war and cheerful cart rides to the excitement of bouncing on trampolines, every activity sparked enthusiasm and delight. Dancing with their favourite cartoon character filled the air with energy and happiness, while delicious treats and colourful face painting by an expert tattoo artist added to the celebration.

Beyond the enjoyment, the picnic offered meaningful learning experiences. Through group games and shared moments, children developed teamwork, coordination, social skills, and self-confidence. Such outings promote independence, strengthen friendships, and encourage experiential learning beyond the classroom.

PREPARATORY WING

FLOWERING FUTURES

Preparing Students on The Path to Vidya, Vinay and Veerta

'When learning engages the head, heart and hands together, knowledge transforms into wisdom.'

At the Preparatory Wing, learning isn't limited only to classrooms, rather it is a continual process often extending beyond the classrooms, to help our students constantly grow and develop in various ways. On our path of attaining Vidya, Vinay, Veerta, enrichment activities play a vital role in shaping confident, independent, and socially responsible children. Simple life skills like tying shoelaces help young learners develop self-reliance and a sense of responsibility. Activities such as writing letters to soldiers nurture gratitude, empathy, and respect for those who serve the nation. Creative celebrations like making rangolis or rakhis allow children to understand cultural traditions while expressing their artistic talents. Experiential learning, such as project based work, coding and working with robots, strengthens mathematical and scientific concepts by allowing children to apply what they learn in real-life situations.Such hands-on experiences go beyond textbooks, fostering character, patriotism, and teamwork in a joyful and meaningful way.

At the Preparatory Wing, learning isn't limited only to classrooms, rather it is a continual process often extending beyond the classrooms, to help our students constantly grow and develop in various ways.

SPECIAL ASSEMBLIES AND CELEBRATIONS

Special assemblies and celebrations in the Preparatory Wing play a crucial role in the holistic development of young learners. They bring learning to life by connecting children with national events, cultural traditions, and important values in an engaging way. Through songs, speeches, skits, and dances, students gain confidence and improve their public speaking and presentation skills. Celebrating religious festivals, or commemorative days help children understand the significance of history, unity, and respect for diversity. These occasions foster patriotism, empathy, and moral values while strengthening the bond among students and teachers.

Together We Learn, Celebrate and Shine

THEMATIC ASSEMBLIES

Thematic assemblies for Classes I, II and III play a vital role in shaping young minds through joyful and meaningful learning experiences. Centered around moral values and important social themes, these assemblies help children understand the world beyond their textbooks. Through melodious songs, graceful dances, and delightful role-plays, students gain confidence and gradually overcome stage fear. Such platforms nurture creativity, teamwork, and self-expression while strengthening communication skills at an early age. Most importantly, Thematic Assemblies instill discipline, empathy, and a strong value system, laying a firm foundation for the holistic development of our young learners.

MELANGE

THE PREPARATORY WING'S VISUAL AND PERFORMING ARTS DISPLAY

Calligraphy

Hobbies for classes IV and V are an integral part of the curriculum here at the Preparatory Wing, culminating in a grand display of the year long learning and hard work of the students in the hobby they chose to pursue. Engaging in hobbies such as music, dance, craft or drama allows children to discover their interests and hidden talents at an early age. Melange gives students a meaningful platform to present their artwork, performances and projects with pride. Displaying paintings, craft work and creative projects builds confidence and a sense of achievement. Performing on stage enhances communication skills, stage presence and self-belief. Such events also encourage discipline, teamwork and perseverance, as children prepare and practise over time. For parents and teachers, the display becomes a celebration of each child's growth and effort. Overall, hobbies and artistic showcases contribute significantly to holistic development by balancing intellectual learning with imagination, confidence and joy.

THE LEARNING SUPPORT CENTER

STUDENTS' PARTNER IN LEARNING

The Learning Support Center is a dedicated place where every learner is valued, encouraged, and empowered to reach their fullest potential. It reflects our school's deep commitment to inclusivity — ensuring that every student is given the space, support, and confidence to learn in ways best suited to them.

Within its calm and welcoming atmosphere, students engage in pull-out classes, one-on-one sessions, and small-group lessons designed to strengthen understanding and nurture curiosity. Here, learning is revisited with care and patience, allowing each child to progress at their own rhythm while rediscovering the joy of learning.

In alignment with CISCE guidelines, the LSC also provides a serene setting for examinations, ensuring comfort and focus under the guidance of the special educator. The special educator also organizes sensitization programs that promote awareness, understanding, and empathy within the school community. Beyond academics, the LSC fosters resilience and self-assurance. As students grow more independent, guidance gracefully evolves into collaboration — empowering them to carry confidence and self-belief into every new challenge ahead.

Aitchison House - named after the prestigious Aitchison College, Lahore - the distinguished institution where our revered founder Maharaja Yadavindra Singh once walked with pride - has emerged this year as a beacon of excellence, courage and unshakable determination. Yellow is the colour of rising strength, of unwavering optimism of those who dare to stand in the light - and Aitchison House has done just that.

The House began its victorious journey by claiming the Inter-House Heritage Quiz, showcasing not merely knowledge but a bold intellectual spirit that refused to be outmatched. On the sports field, Aitchison House roared with unmatched power, securing commanding victories in Handball, Basketball, Badminton, Cricket, Cross Country & Athletic Meet. Each tournament victory reflected extraordinary teamwork, relentless training, and the courage to push beyond limits.

Their sporting dominance reached even greater heights as the House conquered the Athletic Meet and Cross-Country Race for an astonishing three consecutive years, a feat that speaks of unparalleled stamina, resilience and the heart of true champions. These heroic achievements culminated in lifting the Overall Sports Trophy, the ultimate symbol of supremacy in school sports.

This year, Aitchison House has not only won - it has inspired the children of other Houses to excel. With courage in their hearts and the brilliance of yellow guiding their path, the students of Aitchison House have carved a legacy that will be remembered with pride for years to come.

"Excellence is achieved through consistent discipline and purposeful effort."

NALAGARH HOUSE

HOUSEMASTER: MS PRANEET SIDHU

HOUSE PREFECT COUNCIL
Captain (Boys): Smarth Malhotra, Captain (Girls): Gurkanwal Kaur Gill
Prefect (Boys): Toshaan Singh Nahal, Prefect (Girls): Sachreet Kaur

SCHOOL PREFECT COUNCIL
Deputy Head Girl: Pavit Kaur

The colour green, representing Nalagarh, symbolises growth, harmony and renewal. It inspires our students to stay rooted in values, work in unity and progress with calm determination, reminding us that true excellence lies in balanced and responsible growth.

Guided by the ideals of Vidya (knowledge) and Vinay (humility), our students approached every endeavour with discipline, dedication and an unwavering positive spirit. In co-curricular activities, while we may not have stood at the very top in every event, the consistency, teamwork and perseverance displayed by the House were truly commendable and reflected the strength of our collective spirit. Their active participation and strong presence across academic and cultural platforms remain a hallmark of our House's identity.

In the sphere of sports, the true essence of Veerta (courage) was displayed with remarkable improvement and determination. The House secured first position in four events, including the prestigious March Past, reflecting enhanced discipline, coordination and teamwork. In athletics, a noticeable improvement was recorded this year, with the House achieving a better overall standing compared to the previous session. Throughout the Inter-House competitions, our teams emerged as strong and resilient contenders, displaying exemplary sportsmanship and unity. While victories may not always be measured solely by trophies, the progress achieved, the effort invested and the indomitable spirit displayed by our students earned widespread appreciation and respect. This session has been both enriching and instructive, strengthening our resolve to build upon these gains and strive for even greater achievements in the sessions ahead.

Strive for excellence, lead with courage, and inspire through action.

BOARDING HOUSE REPORT

A boarding-house is a strange community; it is not home, yet it has all the intimacy of home without its permanence.

For the boarders, the dorms in the boarding house become personal spaces filled with books, clothes and memories. Each morning begins with the sound of doors opening and closing, footsteps echoing along narrow corridors. The boarding house teaches independence, adjustment, and coexistence, offering both comfort and self reliance. Though most people arrive as strangers, over time they grow used to one another's habits and personalities, forming a sense of extended family. For many, the boarding house remains a place of memories—of challenges faced, lessons learned, and friendships formed—making it an unforgettable part of their journey.

This past year has proven to be an eventful one. The boarders proved themselves through their outstanding performances, earning numerous positions in both cross-country and athletics. Ranveer Singh, awarded the Milkha Singh of YPS, secured first position in the Inter-House Cross-Country competition. Alongside Samrath(U-12), Samvardhan(U-14) and Preetinder (U-17) showcased outstanding performance by clinching first positions in the Annual Inter House Cross-Country. Besides the aforementioned, eight additional boarders achieved places within the top six in the competition. Samrath and Samvardhan set new school records in the 1500 meters and 800 meters events in the Athletic Meet, respectively. Preetinder's exceptional dedication and talent earned him the Most Promising Athlete Trophy. Over the course of the year, the boarders enjoyed an educational and cultural visit to Delhi, touring important landmarks such as Parliament, India Gate, Red Fort, and Akshardham. Besides these serious routines, the boarders also took part in the Khuswant Singh Literature Festival, Kasauli and the Military Literature Festival, Chandigarh.

The Boarding House is managed by two dedicated resident Housemasters, supported by several members of the administrative staff, all of whom take an active role in the care and guidance of the students. While it is difficult to capture every detail of daily life and the routines followed, it can be said that the boarders enjoy a balanced and fulfilling experience. Their days include a healthy mix of physical activity, academic work, personal mentoring from the Housemasters, and a strong sense of camaraderie among peers. Nutritious meals, shared responsibilities, and a structured routine ensure that each day ends with well-earned rest and rejuvenation.

THE LIBRARY

WHERE KNOWLEDGE COMES ALIVE

A library is a doorway to endless knowledge, imagination, and discovery.

The YPS Senior Wing Library houses a rich and diverse collection of fiction, non-fiction, educational references and inspiring magazines, making it a vibrant space for ideas, discovery and imagination. At present, the library holds a total of 11,731 books with 870 new additions enriching the collection this year.

During library lessons, students read, conduct research and get books issued, fostering curiosity and a love for reading. The library organizes structured activities such as monthly book reviews, thematic displays and discussions. The hosting of the Scholastic India Book Fair was a key initiative that encouraged student participation and further enhanced reading engagement by introducing students to a wide variety of books. The Britannica Digital Library is another valuable addition, providing students with reliable, age-appropriate digital resources to support their research work and independent learning. Special observances included World Day for International Justice, marked through discussions on the Constitution; National Space Day, celebrated with informative exhibits; and Independence Day, observed by encouraging students to write gratitude notes for freedom fighters.

Encouraging creative and critical expression, the library takes pride in the achievements of students who have authored articles and poems published in The Tribune. Noteworthy contributions include works by Ruhaan Gandotra (Class VII), Sujas Kaur (Class IX), Binaisha Khokher (Class X), Jigyasu Girdhar (Class XII), Sirat Sanyal (Class XI) and Agamjot Singh Locham (Class VI). Their published writings explore diverse themes such as national security, youth and freedom, personal perspective, environmental conservation and social responsibility, reflecting maturity of thought and strong literary skills. A remarkable milestone is the accomplishment of Ksheerja of Class XI, who has authored and published a book titled Dynamics of International Relations and Global Politics. Such achievements highlight the strong reading culture nurtured by the library and its role in inspiring students to evolve from readers into thoughtful writers and scholars.

With every book we open, the library inspires us to dream bigger, learn deeper and cherish reading as a lifelong treasure.

The Red Fort blast — When terror struck history

On a busy November evening, as hundreds moved around one of India's most iconic monuments, a sudden blast near the Red Fort broke the rhythm of the city. Within seconds, fear replaced routine, and our nation was reminded once again how fragile peace can be.

On the 10th of November, 2025, a Hyundai i20 exploded near Gate 1 of Lal Qila Metro Station at 6:52 pm, claiming 13 innocent lives. The area was crowded with office-goers, tourists, and local shoppers. Within moments, nearby vehicles also caught fire, sending smoke and panic across the busy road.

A local shopkeeper said: "I never heard such a loud explosion ever in my life. I fell three times due to the explosion ... I thought the earth was going to burst." The police, metro staff, and bystanders rushed to help. Traffic came to a halt, metro gates were closed temporarily, and emergency teams arrived quickly to control the fire and move the injured to hospitals. The location of the blast — just steps away from one of India's most important heritage sites —made the incident even more alarming for the city and the nation. Records state that car was owned under the name of Mohammed Salman, although the car was resold many times and was purchased by Dr Umar Nabi, a resident of Pulwama, Jammu and Kashmir, just days before the blast. However, the Registration Certificate of the vehicle remained under the name of Salman.

The National Investigation Agency (NIA) collected evidence from the blast site, examined CCTV footage, and questioned witnesses to understand how the explosives were planted and to identify the people responsible. Several arrests were made as the investigation progressed, and the police confirmed that the incident was being treated as an act of terrorism.

This incident teaches an important lesson: safety starts with awareness. Students and young citizens should stay alert in crowded public places, avoid spreading rumours, and follow emergency instructions during any crisis. It also reminds us that courage, calmness, and cooperation can help save lives in dangerous situations.

While the blast caused chaos, the quick response of the police, metro staff, and volunteers shows the strength of communities in times of crisis. By staying united, alert, and responsible, we can protect our cities, heritage, and people, ensuring that hope and peace always prevail.

THE ETERNAL VOICE OF THE SEA

O sea so vast, so strong, so deep,
So many secrets you still keep.
Your waves that rise, your waters fall,
Answer the moon's soft silver call.
You sing in whispers, shout in might,
A tune of peace, a stormy night.
The sailors trust your mighty way,
Through gentle dawns and storms so grey.
The dolphins dance, the corals gleam,
You guard the world of every dream.
Your sands are gold, your pearls so rare,
You hold life's treasures everywhere.
But now your heart is scarred with pain,
By plastic waste and oil's dark stain.
Your beauty fades, your creatures cry,
As humans watch your wonders die.
Forgive us, sea, for what we've done,
Your call has echoed since time begun.
We vow to keep you pure, defend,
And guard your life till time's own end.
O mighty sea, forever free,
You are the soul of Earth and me.
Endless, timeless, strong and whole,
The sea's a mirror of the soul.

A ROLE MODEL FOR LIFE

THROUGH MY EYES my mom is a teacher, I have had many teachers, each with their own style and personality. However, none have ever had the same impact on me as Neha Kapur has. She is unlike any teacher I have ever had not just because of how she teaches, but because of who she is as a person.

Since the very first class, she made English feel exciting and meaningful. She doesn't just stand at the front of the room and lecture. Instead, she brings stories to life, makes grammar less intimidating, and connects literature to real life in a way that makes the subject feel relevant. Whether we're analysing a poem or writing an essay, she finds a way to make the process fun and engaging. Her passion for the subject is contagious. Because of her, I've found myself looking forward to English class in a way I never expected. But what truly sets her apart is the way she treats her students. She is patient, kind and always willing to help. She listens, encourages us to share our thoughts and never makes anyone feel small for not understanding something.

Her classroom is a place where everyone feels safe to express themselves, to make mistakes and to grow. She doesn't just teach English; she teaches confidence, respect and empathy. She leads by example, not with strict rules, but with compassion and consistency. She handles everything with grace, even when students are difficult or when things don't go as planned. When a strong but gentle, confident but lovable and always full of encouragement.

She doesn't just talk about being a good person, she shows us how. She goes above and beyond what anyone would expect from a teacher. Whether it's staying after class to help a student one-on-one, or simply offering a word of encouragement when someone is having a rough day, she constantly shows that she cares about her students not just as learners, but as people. I don't think she even realizes how much of a difference she's made in our lives, but I hope she does. she knows.

Because of her, I've grown not just as a student, but as a person. I've learned to speak up, to care more deeply and to believe in myself. I often find myself thinking about the kind of person I want to become, and honestly, she's a big part of that picture. I hope to be as good a person as her one day. If I can carry forward the same kindness, patience and passion that she shares with us every day, I know I'll be on the right path.

There are teachers who help you pass a class and then there are teachers who help shape who you are. She is the latter and I will always be grateful for the time I've had in her classroom.

YOUTH: THE HEARTBEAT OF PROGRESS

Youth is the pulse of society, the energy that drives progress, and the vision that shapes tomorrow. In today's world, young people are no longer confined to a single path - they are diversifying, exploring, and excelling in fields that were once reserved only for a few.

Look around and you will see their footprints everywhere. In science and technology young innovators are creating life-changing solutions. In art and culture, their voices carry emotions that connect millions. In business, start-ups led by youth are rewriting economic models. In sports, young players break records and inspire nations. This diversification shows that today's youth are not limited by boundaries - they are creators of possibilities.

One of the most powerful arenas where youth are stepping in today is politics. Once seen as a field for the experienced and elderly, politics is now welcoming young voices that reflect the dreams and struggles of ordinary people. When a young leader speaks about employment, education or climate change, it is not just policy — it is lived reality. Their involvement brings freshness, honesty and courage to a system that often grows rigid with age. With more youth in politics, democracy becomes more alive, inclusive and responsive to the people it serves.

What makes all of this truly human is that the youth carry with them not just ambition, but also emotion. They know what it feels like to struggle for opportunities, to fight for equality, to dream of a better tomorrow. Their diversification across fields is not just about careers - it is about connection, about shaping a society where every voice matters.

In the end, youth are not merely participants in progress - they are its heartbeat. With their courage to diversify and their will to lead, they are not only shaping fields, but shaping humanity's destiny.

Jigyasu's Newspaper Article

FREEDOM AND YOUTH: A FORCE FOR CHANGE

Youth is not just a stage of life - it is the heartbeat of a nation, the fire that shapes tomorrow. In today's world, freedom for the youth is more than a privilege; it is a responsibility - a force that can either build civilizations or destroy them.

The youth of today stand taller than ever before. With education as their sword and technology as their shield, they are connected to the entire world in a single click. They have the power to voice their opinions, to break the chains of outdated norms, and to fight battles not with weapons, but with ideas.

Their freedom is not confined to borders; it flows across nations, across beliefs, across systems. From the streets of protest to the corridors of innovation, the youth are proving that freedom is the fuel of progress.

But true freedom is not about doing whatever pleases the mind - it is about rising beyond selfish desires. It is about choosing courage over comfort, truth over silence, and responsibility over recklessness. When youth misuse freedom, they become slaves to distraction. But when they channel it with wisdom, they become the architects of a new world order.

Even today, in some corners of the globe, many young voices are silenced - denied education, denied expression, denied dreams. Their struggle is a reminder that freedom is not free; it must be guarded, fought for, and respected.

The youth of today hold the pen that will write history. With their freedom, they can either paint a picture of division or a masterpiece of unity. The choice is theirs - and the time is now.

For in the fire of youth and the breath of freedom lies the destiny of humanity itself.
